The Shamrock Poly Difference

A rock-solid reputation

As a small, privately-owned business, Shamrock Poly delivers a very special kind of service. We take the time to understand your needs intimately – and we see every order through to your complete satisfaction.

Our directors are also hands-on and enjoy dealing with you directly. We do everything possible to find quick and effective solutions to any issues you may have.

Product consistency you can rely on

Shamrock Poly has been producing its uniquely formulated products for more than three decades. We produce our film on high-end, modern extruders, and we use the most technically advanced plastic resins available.

Consistent product quality has always been our number one priority. It's what keeps our clients coming back – time and again.

Responsive lead times

If you have an urgent job, Shamrock Poly can help. We do our best to meet your time-frames, no matter how tight.

But just as importantly, we're always honest and upfront about what's realistic too.

Continual improvements to benefit you

At Shamrock Poly, we regularly invest in our business – and find new ways to exceed your expectations.

We continually upgrade our equipment and refine our systems to maintain high industry standards and best-practice operations. We also implement stringent recycling policies and invest heavily in minimising our carbon footprint.
