

BACK IN MY DAY

The things we no longer have to do

Well, it certainly isn't the good ol' days anymore.

Although looking back, one has to wonder whether the old days were all that good, anyway.

Because honestly, climbing a mountain while fighting off ten snakes just to get to school becomes tiresome.

So it's a good thing that these days, Acquaint is here to help.

Back in my day, I had to churn my own butter

Churning butter is, of course, far more complicated than high-speed-blender owners will have you believe.

Because in the 'olden' days, it would mean far more than just elbow grease – one's blood, sweat, tears and back went into it. One's very soul.

A taxing task, all in all. Which is why nowadays, having Acquaint to lend a hand when picking up the best Pepe Saya money can buy saves us all the head (and body) aches.

Back in my day, I had to take out my own bins

Down the long, tree-lined driveway. Over the bumpy, gravel road. Through all hours of the night. You used to have to do these gruelling chores by yourself, once upon a time.

And don't even get us started on how you had to scoop out the pool.

So it's a good thing that now, you've got Acquaint to help out around the home – and take the hassle out of these harder jobs.

Back in my day, I had to groom my own Golden

As you surely understand, a dog simply won't wash itself.

And after a long, hard day of fetch, walks and tricks – they deserve every bit of pampering they can get.

And this pampering used to have to be done oneself. But now, Acquaint will help care for your pet and take them to the vet and salon for all their health and haircare needs.

Back in my day, I had to trawl through the Yellow Pages to find a service

Google, Facebook, Instagram – they all make it so easy for young people nowadays.

Younger generations will never know the excruciating effort of flipping page after page of that big book of businesses to find the one you were after.

But thankfully, with Acquaint, no one needs to know that pain anymore. Because when it comes to life admin, we've got you covered.

Are you after a private at home service that can keep up with the times, while reminiscing about the days of old?
